Real-World Success Stories

Tips for Successful Implementation

1) Have an outsourcing strategy.

- Know what your outsourcing strategy is. It needs to be well thought out and measured against in house solutions and capabilities.
- SWOT analysis. As a company you should understand the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats of outsourcing logistics, rather than keeping them in house.

2) Do your homework.

- Do a comprehensive study
 - Clearly document advantages, challenges, costs and benefits.
- Document expectations
 - Set down expectations in clear terms and include current costs.

TRACKING PROVENANCE. TRACKING PROVENANCE.

The Objective Kerry Logistics, one of the largest logistics companies in the world, approached Mawson Global in April 2012 to help source two types of shrink-wrap. They were looking for the most cost-affective options, but also needed the products to be of a high quality because the shrink-wrap would be used to secure customers' goods during transit. This client needed information quickly because lower-priced shrink-wrap was also key to their being able to accessfully tander for a large contract involving unpacking containers onto pallets and wrapping them for delivery. The Approach Kerry Logistics came to us specifically because of our global market knowledge and expertise. We were able to use our staff on the ground in China to assess sucpliers, in this case in the Guangdong Shanddog and Jangau Provinces wheat these are a number of mistalin factories coupleing quality law cost machinus and hand three-levels. As per our procedure, we reviewed over 30 augitiem, making our way down to the final recommendations and viable alternatives—each ene offered considerable servings. We use a tried-and-tested ratings system to identify the best suppliers, making efficiency levels, reliability and quality. We presented two different qualities of west (Cast and Blown) and, eithough with each there were marginally charges options, our top recommendations were the suppliers who occred higher on our ratings card. Quality is key to meat clients; it was a NUSCT for Kerry Logistics who transport the property of others.
